Once there was a man who had a greedy camel. One cold night, the man went to sleep in his tent. He heard a noise. He got up to see what was making the noise. He saw his camel at the entrance of the tent.

"Master", said the camel, "It is very cold outside. May I put my head inside your tent? You have a warm fire in there."

The man answered, "You have a coat of fur to keep you warm. Oh well, put your head inside."

A little later, the camel said, "Master the rest of me is cold. May I bring my front legs inside?" The man wanted to sleep, so he agreed. He moved over so there was room for the camel's front legs. The camel was happy but not for long.

"Master my back legs are cold. Please move into the corner so that I can get them in." The man moved and the camel came in. Now, there was no room in the tent at all. "Master there isn't any room in the tent. I cannot turn," said the greedy camel. "There isn't enough room for both of us. I am bigger than you are. I think you should go outside."
